FROM IDAHO.

From the Boise Statesman of the 23d and 25th, we clip the following:

ELECTION IN ONEIDA COUNTY.

This county did nobly in the election, giving four or five votes to one for Kirk over Holbrook, and electing most of the People's ticket, among the rest Mr. M. A. Carter, who was over one year ago appointed Recorder of that county by acting Governor Smith. Other members we do not know personally, but have the assurance that not one of them will side with the party that run the last Legislature.

A DEAD BODY FOUND.

Information was brought to Justice Kline Thursday morning, that a body had been found on the bank of the river opposite town, supposed to have been drowned. That officer summoned a Coroner's jury and had the case examined and the body buried, but no clue as to who it was could be obtained. The body was too much decayed to be identified.

SECRETARY HOWLETT CONFIRMED.

It gives us great pleasure to state that by the last eastern mail Mr. S. R. Howlett received official information that his confirmation as Secretary of this Territory was agreed to just before the adjournment.

MEMORIAL ASKING PROTECTION.

In Silver City there is being extensively signed a memorial to the President, asking additional force to protect the frontiers against the daily depredations of the damnable redskins. We hope that this may have the desired effect, and that, too, at an early day.

PROMOTION OF CAPT. WALKER.

We learn that "fighting Jack Walker," alias Capt. J. H. Walker, of the 14th Infantry, stationed at camp C. F. Smith, has been promoted, for bravery and meritorious conduct, to Brevet-Major. If an officer in this district deserves promotion Captain Walker is the man.

ADA COUNTY—GEN. STEELE ARRIVED.

Holbrook's majority in Ada county, by the official count of the clerk, is reduced to sixty-five.

Major-General Steele arrived at Fort Boise on Thursday evening.

FROM RUBY CITY—A TEAMSTER KILLED.

We learn by Thursday's stage that James. Grate, a teamster, was killed by the "Noble Red Men," last Monday, six miles from the Toll House on the Chico road, and seven miles from Ruby City.

FEARS FOR SAFETY OF A MAIL RIDER.

Apprehensions were felt for the safety of the mail rider on the Star City road. The stage waited until seven o'clock for him to arrive and then left—he being five hours over. What are those soldiers doing up there among those B... who have not a pony or a weapon of any kind, more dangerous than a hatchet or fishhook.

COMPANY OF CAVALRY COMING.

Hill Beachey is on his way from Star City to Ruby and expected to arrive there to-day. He is coming with a company of cavalry, leaving four men at each station, who will travel from station to station with the stage in relays. E. ... this protective force ... bought in California seventy Henry rifles for the use of employees on the line. From these arrangements it would appear that the Star City route will be amply protected in a short time.

THE CHICO STAGE—A ... RAID.

The Chico stage leaves and arrives at Ruby with regularity fully loaded with p...

It is reported that Capt. Mullan ... to extend the line to Boise City. There was some alarm occasioned by a report that the Indians had made a raid upon Flint, but was probably without foundation.

MILLS RUNNING—A BAD ...

Four mills, the New York & Owyhee, Web-Foot, Morse & Vass, and Greenebach, are all running on Poorman rock. Great distress is felt in Owyhee county, owing to the failure of Moore & Fogus to ... their orders for so long a time, after they were expected to be paid. It is a well known fact that they run all the mills that did run during the winter, on ... Star and Oro Fino rock, have constantly shipped their bullion away and issued "orders" for their current expenses, until the whole country is flooded with evidence of their indebtedness, which is selling for seventy-five cents on the dollar in greenbacks. We understand they ... full payment by the tenth of September. Hope it may be fulfilled.

FROM MONTANA.

We hope that some friend, knowing to the facts, will send us, at an early day, full particulars.

Julia Dean Hayne, whose fame is co-extensive in America with the legitimate drama, has been delighting for some weeks past, the citizens of Helena with her splendid renditions.

The printers of Helena have organized a typographical Union.

REBEL MEETING IN KENTUCKY.—A Frankfort dispatch of Aug. 2d, runs as follows:

The rebel meeting here to-day is addressed by Akers, of Missouri, and Vallandigham, of Ohio. Pendleton did not come. He found the rebels too enthusiastic for Vallandigham and turned back. The whole crowd, men, women and children, did not exceed 2,000. Ten thousand were expected, but were not here. Some of the speakers are profuse in their compliments upon Stonewall Jackson. The speeches of Akers and Vallandigham in effect justified the rebellion, and placed the whole responsibility of war upon the people of the North. There was much drinking, and in nearly every crowd into which you went cries could be heard of "Hurrah for Jeff. Davis and John Morgan!"

The conservative Union men are indignant that speakers from Ohio should come here to aid in striking down those who had saved Kentucky to the Union.

Vallandigham said the Ohio Democracy was just like the Duvall Democracy of Kentucky. There was one Confederate officer on the stand with Vallandigham, and several in the crowd had the rebel uniform. Vallandigham is the lion with the rebels of Kentucky. Pendleton's connection with McClellan has killed him with the Kentucky rebels, and his recent efforts for the Confederate Democracy has killed him with the conservative Union men of Kentucky.

NEGRO SUFFRAGE.—The Richmond Whig has a letter from an ex-rebel, who says:

"I am as much opposed to allowing these freedmen to come en masse to the ballot-box as any man, and four years' service in the Army of Northern Virginia should be surety that I am incapable of a thought or a feeling inimical to the South. But I can freely declare that I know many negroes better qualified for the suffrage morally and intellectually than thousands of the present voters. Whether any man's color should exclude him from political privileges I am in some doubt, but I am quite sure that no man's color should invest him with such privileges.

"My proposition suggests a compromise between extremists. No man, of what complexion soever, should be permitted to vote unless properly qualified; yet, so qualified, he should vote, be he as black as Erebus. The proposed measure will admit but few freedmen—and those of a superior class—to the franchise, and will exclude forever the vast body of ruffianism, whose just destiny is to be governed and not to govern. I think we will be infinite gainers by this plan. If we delay, or persistently refuse the privilege of suffrage to them in this restricted form, we are likely to have universal suffrage granted to them by act of Congress. Give the blacks the qualified right of suffrage I suggested, and even fierce Thaddeus Stevens may relent."

WHO HAS CHANGED?—The Washington Chronicle of July 24th has the following:

A violent Copperhead, who made himself notorious by denouncing Abraham Lincoln and the Republican party during the war, and who was not among the mourners when the late President was assassinated, was heard loudly eulogizing Andrew Johnson a few days ago. A bystander remarked: "Well, now that you are praising the man you so bitterly assailed, I presume you will admit that you have changed ground?" "No," promptly responded the Copperhead, "I stand where I have always stood; it is Andrew Johnson who has changed and come over to us."

EFFECTS OF THE NEEDLE GUN.—It is stated that the proportion of Austrian to Prussian soldiers killed in the recent battles in Bohemia, was six of the former to one of the latter. This remarkable fatality among the Austrians is attributed by English war correspondents to the use by the Prussians of their famous needle gun.

HOW JOHNSON MEN TALK IN MEMPHIS.—The Nashville Press of July 30th gives the following intelligence, which goes to show the close affiliation of Johnson men with rebels:

The Johnson rebels held a meeting in Memphis on last Thursday, to appoint delegates to the Philadelphia Johnson Convention. The rebel Generals Forest, Chalmers and other prominent Confederates were there. Chalmers made a speech, in which he said of Jeff Davis:

"He considered him the greatest of living men. Clay was a great statesman; Napoleon was a great General; but as a statesman and a military man none equalled Jefferson Davis." (Cheers)

Chalmers then very properly delivered a eulogy upon the policy of Andrew Johnson:

"They could have no hope in the Black Republicans, but a light seemed now to be breaking in upon them, and 'the winter of their discontent would be made glorious summer' by the son of Tennessee—Andrew Johnson. (Loud and prolonged applause.) He had come to the rescue, and they had nothing to fear from such men as Stevens and Sumner; the lion of Tennessee. (Renewed applause.) They could see how it was with Andrew Johnson and the Radicals. They were like two duelists who had drawn their swords and thrown away the scabbards, and he asked them to support the President.

"We have submitted to a Governor not of our choice, been insulted by our former slaves, and lost four hundred million dollars worth of slaves, greater than the war debt of the North. And ought they to call upon us to pay their war debt?"

Another rebel officer, Col. Grace, said:

"He would call on them all to support Andrew Johnson and to stand by his policy. If they did not now come into the ark then they could not expect to be saved. He wished it to be distinctly understood that they did not go back as paupers. They would go as men entitled to their just and lawful rights. They would take back with them Gen. Lee and the reputation of Stonewall Jackson, whose reputation in the war was as great as that of any General in the North or South."

He then referred to the high-toned feeling which pervaded the people throughout the South, and closed in a brilliant peroration, calling on them to support the policy laid down by Andrew Johnson, and retired amid applause.

The band then played, in a very lively manner, "The Bonnie Blue Flag."

Such is Johnsonism in West Tennessee.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 31 1866

Turning their own Case against Themselves

The Philadelphia address evades or slurs over some of the most important questions now in issue in national politics It does not directly antagonize the new constitutional amendment since to do so would be to present a simple issue to the people with a certainty of its being decided adversely to Johnson and his party The simple and only question is shall the proposed amendment be adopted? The Convention dared not attack this amendment openly It was aware that a measure so wise so equitable and so just, could be defeated only by diverting public attention from it and obscuring the one simple question under a cloud of generalities of little meaning and less pertinency to the subject actually before the country Yet the amendment is covertly assailed in the address, and as might have been expected, in a manner as unfair as it could be done consistently with any appearance of plausibility Here is what it says in regard to the general subject of amendments:

> We deny the right of Congress to make changes in the fundamental law without the concurrence of three-fourths of all the States including especially those to be most seriously effected by them or to impose them upon these States or people, as conditions of representation or of admission to any of the rights duties and obligations which belong under the Constitution to all the States alike.

Observe the unjust imputation that Congress has undertaken to make changes in the fundamental law without the concurrence of three-fourths of the States Observe again how that a doctrine is stated here, which, if true, convicts President Johnson of the very same usurpation which is charged upon Congress For, if no conditions of representation or of admission to the rights which belong to States can be constitutionally exacted of the ten States which are unrepresented, how can President Johnson justify his conduct in prescribing changes in the fundamental laws of those States, and in making the ratification of the anti slavery amendment by their Legislatures conditions of their restoration? The address proves too little or too much Either it does not make out a case against Congress, or (granting that its accusations against Congress are just), it makes out an equally strong case against the President. According to the Philadelphia address, there was no constitutional warrant for Johnson's act imposing on the rebel States conditions of re-admission to their forfeited rights By the reasoning of his own friends, the President is convicted of having usurped extra-constitutional powers The new amendment stands on precisely the same ground as the anti slavery amendment which Johnson forced upon the South. Both were proposed by Congresses in which the revolted States had no representation If, therefore, the late action of Congress was unwarranted by the Constitution, that of the President a year ago was sheer usurpation. The logic of the Philadelphia address, if it damages Congress, crushes Johnson This cannot be called a remarkably successful result for so pretentious an effort as that of forming a new national party.

The Old Terrorism

> "The idea of calling such a Convention a Southern Convention, is extremely farcical. It is called to meet in Philadelphia because there is no place in any Southern State where such a Convention would be tolerated."—National Intelligencer

The above language is used in relation to the Convention of Southern Unionists, to meet September 3d. It has a double significance on account of coming from President Johnson's personal organ That his organ should denounce the assembling of such a Convention for merely deliberative consultation, is strange enough, but when the declaration is made, as by authority, that the Union men of the South cannot meet in any Southern State, the country must certainly feel somewhat startled. Why should not any peaceable, deliberative assemblage be tolerated anywhere, in any State? Having achieved the fame of crushing the New Orleans Convention and the premeditated murder of a number of unarmed, defenceless people, has Johnson concluded to back the radical secession element in repeating that exploit, whenever and wherever Southern Union men presume to hold a Convention? In good sooth, it looks much like it. Are we to understand from the President's own organ that, notwithstanding his professions of a desire to see an early reconciliation of all parties with everybody's rights secured by law and public sentiment, it is a part of "my policy" that only reconstructed rebels shall be permitted to hold Conventions, express their political sentiments, and deliberate upon public affairs? Is it a dictum of President Johnson that hereafter Union men of the South are to > —bend low and in a bondman's key,

> With bated breath and whispering humbleness,

Sue to him and his reconstructed rebels for the privilege of holding an opinion and expressing it? The language of the Intelligencer can mean nothing more nor less "There is no place in any Southern State where such a convention would be tolerated!" Well, since the New Orleans massacre, as Sheridan calls it, and Johnson's telegram to the blood hounds, assuring them of his sympathy and co-operation, if necessary, we can believe that "toleration" of a Union convention where not surrounded by enough loyal troops to protect it, is not to be expected But "my policy" weeps tears of joy when late, active, violent rebels walk into "my" convention, arm in arm with northern sympathizers "My policy" encourages conventions of that sort, but when Union men of the South, who fought against treason and refuse to go with a venal President into the defiling embrace of the harlot of rebellion, propose to hold a convention, they are coolly informed by the President's personal organ that "there is no place in any Southern State where such a convention would be tolerated!" Verily, "my policy" as exhibited by this outcropping, looks amazingly as though Johnson had abandoned his personation of the character of Moses and adopted Dionysius as a model better suited to his peculiar disposition

There is nothing remarkable in the fact that Johnson was greeted in New York by a larger crowd than that which assembled when the remains of President Lincoln arrived there. New York is several tens of thousands Democratic That style of hombres did not care to look upon the work of their tool, J Wilkes Booth Between them and Johnson, however, there is a fellow feeling which makes them wondrous kind to each other If Booth were to appear alive in New York he would draw an admiring crowd large enough to discount Johnson's

Seward is evidently running the Presidential excursion machine This morning's dispatches inform us that the party has arrived at New York that Seward assumes to be the head of the expedition and that he is patronizingly showing Johnson around Seward is putting on a great many airs for a person whose own State, through her Legislature votes down a resolution welcoming him home

An Eastern journal has a strong article headed "The President Scorned" We are of opinion that in the last word of this caption there are more letters by at least one "S" than the writer of the article intended, or than is consistent with strict truth

Johnson is said to be a stern, unflinching man May be so, but he couldn't find it in his heart to sting the Philadelphia committee by dwelling on the manner in which he became President. Reticence on that subject in that crowd was kindness.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

DATES TO AUGUST 29

The Presidential Party Leaves Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA Aug 29 —The Presidential party left at 7 o clock this morning Gen Butterfield arrived here last night, as the representative of the committee of the citizens of New York.

Arrival at New York—Addresses

NEW YORK Aug 29 —The Presidential party arrived via Jersey City, at a little past one o clock this afternoon and were received by Mayor Hoffman in the name of the Common Council and the city authority The Mayor made a brief speech of welcome which was briefly responded to The procession then moved to the City Hall where the reception took place and subsequently there was a review of the military by President Johnson when the immense procession moved through Broadway to Delmonico's where at six o clock there will be a grand banquet Broadway and all the public and private residences and all the foreign and domestic shipping are gaily decorated with flags and streamers A larger crowd of people are in the streets than on the arrival of the remains of the late President Lincoln Thus far all has gone on smoothly the weather being propitious. To-night the President will be serenaded at ten o clock in front of Delmonico's and if not too weary will make an address Mayor Hoffman in his welcome to the President at the City Hall said, the City of New York which now greets you has never faltered in its devotion to the Union and the Constitution and never will It is the Metropolis of the country and when it speaks it does not speak in whispers or utter uncertain sounds. It speaks to-day and I trust its great demonstration in which capital and labor have both united will cheer your heart and strengthen your hands in the great work of peace and restoration in which you are engaged I will detain you no longer The people are impatient to greet you Their actions will speak more eloquently than mere words I beg your acceptance of this engrossed copy of the resolutions of the Common Council and with them extend to you the hospitalities of the city

The President in a voice evidently affected by emotion said To make a reply to what you have just given utterance to under the circumstances, would be more than I could undertake I am overwhelmed at the reception you have accorded me (Applause.) Language is inadequate to give expression to my feelings I accepted your invitation, and now beg you will in return accept my most sincere and heartfelt thanks Such an invitation from this great metropolis ought to encourage, and it does encourage me in the faithful discharge of my duty (Cheers.) It is peculiarly acceptable at this time, fresh as we are from the battle-field, but there is still a greater battle before us (Cheers.) In reference to what I have done, and it is for you to determine what my conduct has been (Applause.) In conclusion, let silence speak for me what I ought to say and what I intend to do (Cheers.) In accepting these resolutions, accompanied by the sentiment so gracefully uttered, I again return you my sincere thanks

At the conclusion of the President's remarks he was greeted with three times three cheers Loud calls were then made for Mr Secretary Seward, who in response said I feel that I am at home, and thank you for the welcome you have extended (Cheers.) I feel more than that, for I have brought with me to your and my home the President of the United States (Cheers.) United by the arms of our heroes by the virtue of our citizens, and by the wisdom and energy of our Chief Magistrate If anything is wanting it is the certificate which we look for at the coming polls to bear us out in our opinions that the United States should consist of 36 instead of 25 States (Great applause) In the city and State of New York the people should be faithful, first to their wives, then to their children, then to the city and State, and then to the country at large. To these duties I adhere, and if persons were to interfere with me in faithfully carrying out these principles I could overbalance them and still be faithful to the country [Great cheering]

After the address, the Mayor presented the city officials and citizens, which ceremony continued for about an hour The procession of the party up Broadway was a magnificent ovation Every available space was occupied by the assembled thousands. Bouquets were showered down by hundreds The cheers which greeted General Grant and Admiral Farragut were especially noticeable On their arrival at Delmonico the party reviewed the division of troops. The President was called on to speak but declined to make a speech saying that none was needed after the demonstration which had been made to day, "I leave the Constitution and Union in your hands." The party was afterwards entertained at Delmonico's by a few privileged citizens which was continued until a late hour of the night. The party leaves at an early hour for West Point, riding through Central Park and taking a special steamer at Manhattanville.

The Paris correspondent of the Morning Post states that the Empress Carlotta has so far succeeded in her mission in behalf of Maximilian as to obtain from the Emperor of France an extension of the time in which to pay the French Government the ten millions francs due; but Napoleon refused to loan her fifteen millions francs to pay for the equipment of the troops in Mexico but will assist in such equipments by furnishing the material from the French magazines The Empress also obtained from Napoleon an extension of time until January for the departure of the French troops from Mexico.

LIVERPOOL, P M Cotton closed for middling uplands at 13½@13¾ with sales of ten thousand bales. Breadstuffs declining. Provisions unchanged, except lard, which has an advancing tendency

PARIS, P M., Aug. 29 Current rumors in relation to Mexican matters are very conflicting The most probable report appears to be that the Empress Carlotta will return to Mexico, and that a French General is to command the Mexican troops organized by Maximilian The name of the General is not stated.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO August 30 —In consequence of the adjournment of the 12th district court this morning, out of respect to the memory of E W F Sloan, the trial of Chas P Duane was continued until Monday next at 10 o'clock A. M.

Thos. Byrnes, the murderer of Chas T Hill will be hanged on Monday next, unless respited or his sentence commuted to imprisonment for life Strong efforts are being made in his behalf to induce Gov Low to grant commutation of sentence. A petition to this end, numerously signed, has been sent to the Executive The signers are mostly those who are opposed to capital punishment, and others who believe it wrong to hang a man on circumstantial evidence.

The P M. S. S Golden City sailed for Panama at 11 o clock this morning, with 247 passengers and $853,902 in treasure.

The Democrats held a ratification meeting on Battery street in front of the Custom House last evening. It was a tame affair poorly attended and entirely without enthusiasm The speeches were exceedingly mild The various candidates showing a non-committal disposition not calculated to produce much excitement among the audience The bonfire and band of music were the most interesting and best appreciated portion of the entertainment Mr Hendrick has given notice to the County Court of his intention to apply for pardon for James A. Shotwell who is now serving out a term of six years imprisonment at San Quintin for forging a check on Donahoe, Ralston &Co's Bank for $40 000 in 1863

James R Josselyn a native of Massachusetts has been committed to Stockton as insane. He is a druggist by profession

SOMETHING NEW!

THE NEW LIGHT!

DANFORD'S

Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!

A RTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT, IS A UNIversal necessity A Safe, Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed heretofore by those who live in large cities where Gas is used Years of study and much capital have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp wherein the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used without a chimney, and without unpleasant odor while in use That fruitful source of expense, trouble and annoyance the chimney is in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP avoided it is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supersede all other Coal Oil Lamps, it is the cheapest artificial light that can be used, yielding the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than one cent per hour, or double the quantity of light of an ordinary Chimney Lamp, for one third the cost It will burn when turned down to a taper-light, ten hours for a cent, is free from smoke, can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out. These LAMPS will be on exhibition and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shepelin & Dufrene, corner of Morrison and First streets.

A NEEDED [illegible].—We have before referred to a [illegible] of great importance concerning our commercial [illegible], and spoken of the urgent necessities now ex- [illegible] for the improvement of facilities for navigation on [illegible] of Oregon, and up to this port from the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river. What we have said it [illegible] the eye of those for whom it was in- [illegible] some cause, and we are informed that gen- [illegible] who are now in our midst, and whose influence could be exerted, and would cheerfully be given in aid [illegible] arrangements for such improvements, ask that a proper [illegible] of the case may be made. [illegible] should be sufficient to show any party the [illegible] and one trip across Columbia river bar, and to San Francisco, should be enough to convince any one that the mariner on the route we speak of, literally feels his way in the dark, from port to port. Go [illegible] of San Francisco and one is almost constantly in [illegible] the shadow of lights, or within the hearing of sound from [illegible] placed along the coast for the benefit of the [illegible] of California but leave San Francisco to come to Portland and where are any such things to be met? [illegible] not a bell is to be heard, north of the [illegible] Island light, until reaching the radius of the single light on Cape Disappointment. Not a buoy is placed on Columbia river bar, or in the offing; nor are there any to be seen on the route from there to Portland. This is the [illegible] in which we find our commercial [illegible] and it does not require that we [illegible] to show what should be done [illegible]. It is simply necessary that we urge the erection of light houses along the coast where they are needed, and any [illegible] or master of a vessel, can in a moment point out the places. Buoys should be placed in [illegible] immediately, viz: One at the [illegible] on the bar at the mouth of the [illegible]; another off the spit at the middle [illegible] on the north spit; and so on, until at least twenty buoys are located in that vicinity. Through [illegible] at least ten more ought to be fixed [illegible] and a few small lights located in position to be [illegible]. It is simple to understand what is required. But there has been so much appropriated for California, and so many localities to dredge and fix up by the General Government for that State, that we presume it will be [illegible] to use a vast amount of red tape, and go through with [illegible] before the "heads" of the [illegible] can get it through them that [illegible] entitled to independent [illegible] and more than a few miles from Black Point [illegible] Our city has already expended, and is still [illegible] large sums of money for the improvement of navigation in this region, but it cannot be expected that our tax-payers will be able to do all that [illegible] to the welfare of the State, in a commercial point of view. The State of Oregon, and the General [illegible] should be asked to aid us in this respect, and that [illegible], and the request should be pressed upon [illegible] with a determination that [illegible]

WASHINGTON TERRITORY COAL.—It will be recollected that recently the steamship Fideliter, Capt. Erskine, with a party of tourists, including Judge Brockway and Col. Hayward of California, Wm. Kohl, Esq., and others of Victoria, made a visit to the Bellingham Bay coal mines, in Washington Territory. The steaming qualities of the coal from those mines was tested on the Fideliter, on that trip, with the following result: Thirteen hours under steam, in thick fog, from the coal mine to Olympia, distance about 110 miles, burning 5 tons 100 pounds, making no clinker whatever, only a little more ash than Nanaimo, and no black soot flying over the deck. From Olympia to Victoria, distance about the same, stopping at Port Townsend about one hour; the run was made in thirteen hours, burning 3½ tons of coal and one cord of wood......From this it would seem that the Bellingham Bay coal is equal to the Nanaimo coal, a fact which we are greatly pleased to record. At the solicitation of several parties Mr. Kohl has given a description of the mines and their productions, which we find in a Victoria paper, from which we quote: "The mines are situated in Washington Territory, on the bank of the bay from which they derive their name. The bay affords good anchorage and a safe harbor, accessible at all stages of the water for the largest class of vessels. The improvements at the mines, besides the necessary work-shops, dwellings, &c., consist of a wharf extending some 250 feet into the bay, alongside of which, vessels taking in a cargo of coal, can lie with perfect safety at low water. A rail-way is laid on the wharf to three large covered shootes, in which are screens, where the cars are loaded and taken to the vessel. These shootes are supplied from the mines, to the mouth of which is another rail-way. The coal is drawn from the mine by a powerful steam engine, up an incline of 480 feet, and taken to the shootes and dumped, where it is thoroughly screened. At the termination of the incline, is another rail-way, extending into the mine on a level of some 2500 feet. The cars are placed on this rail-way at regular distances of 18 feet apart, and receive the coal from the chambers which are cut into the regular seam on the right, leaving solid pillars of the above dimensions as supports. On the left of the rail-way, and extending its entire length, is a gutter some twelve inches below the level, which receives the water dropping from the mine, and the visitor is agreeably surprised at the cleanliness and dryness of the works. Still farther to the left, and extending the entire length of the mine, is a box through which a current of air is forced to supply the different chambers which are being worked. The entire appliances and arrangements in and about the mine at the present time, are such that with sufficient force, 250 tons of coal can be turned out daily; but notwithstanding this, the proprietors purpose increasing and remodeling the present facilities, so as to enable them to raise double that quantity. To say that the Bellingham Bay coal mine is inexhaustible, will hardly convey to the reader an idea of the enormous amount of coal that lies there embedded, and it is only when figures are brought to bear, that the magnitude of the carboniferous stratum can be realized, extending as it is supposed to do for miles, at a uniform thickness of 16 feet."

BULLION [illegible].—A telegram from San Francisco, June 19th, says the American Journal of Mining, states that receipts of bullion in that city from all quarters, since the first inst., amount to $2,000,000; and a dispatch of the same date from St. Louis, informs us that $250,000 in gold dust had arrived there from St. Joseph in the hands of passengers from Montana. Putting "this and that" together, the "indications" for a plentiful harvest of the precious metals this year are exceedingly good.

DRY GOODS.—Mr. John Wilson, 127 Front street, would invite the special attention of parties desiring dry goods, to his splendid stock. See advertisement.

STATE ITEMS.

At the late special election in Polk county, Jeffries, Copperhead, received 536 votes—the exact number polled for the Copperhead county ticket last June. Riggs, Union, received 603 votes—some thirty less than were thrown at the general election for the Union candidates. The cause of this decrease in the Union vote was the dissatisfaction of many Union men with the action of the convention that nominated Mr. Riggs. It is due, however, to Mr. Riggs to say that there was no feeling against him personally. His defeat was caused by the strife of factions in his own party. The actual strength of the Union party in Polk county is 40 to 50 votes in excess of the Copperheads.

The following are the names of the Penitentiary convicts who made their escape on Monday: Mat. Bledsoe, Ed Mitchell, Ludarm, Lambert, Wright, (killed) Daniels, Williams, Douglas, and White. We are informed that the prisoners had been relieved of their shackles. When the grand rush began, Bledsoe and others attacked Mr. Shaw, getting him down, taking his pistol from him and keeping it. The opinion prevails that the escape is attributable to the removal of the shackles, lax discipline and an insufficient guard. Our opinion is that running a penitentiary on high "moral [illegible]" principles, is the last degree of [illegible].

The Jacksonville Sentinel is Radical," as the following from its [illegible] "The early reformers in religion, in science, in morals, were all radicals. Never, perhaps, in the history of the country was there so great [illegible] for deep and searching reform as now. The [illegible] that has afflicted the body politic is so deep seated [illegible] can reach it but a searching and violent remedy. If faithfully used according to directions will cure every case of Diabetes, and greatly mitigate the troublesome effects caused by a relaxation of the outlet of the bladder. It is a most successful remedy for Gravel and other diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, and for Female Diseases is unequaled. The Catholicon uniformly cures Prolapsus Uteri, Whites, all Irregularities of the Monthly Turns, Suppression, Incontinence of Urine, Bloating and Dropsical Swellings, and all Diseases of Pregnancy. The specific action of this medicine is immediate and certain upon the Uterine and [illegible] Muscles and Ligaments, restoring them to as healthy a state as those of childhood and youth, so that patients who have used the Graefenberg Company's Uterine Catholicon cannot sufficiently express their gratitude for the relief afforded. S. T.—1860.—X.
Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated
PLANTATION BITTERS,
Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.
They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.
Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
READ AND REFLECT.
Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, "'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day,
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air,
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist [illegible] dis—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand [illegible] and latent
Is threatened evil to prevent;
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the surest [illegible]

To set at defiance the [illegible] of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be fore-armed with
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysentric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Never conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, [illegible] gloom
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S [illegible] medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground,
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the sicklings, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present,
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Sold by [illegible] table druggists in all parts of the world.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of it [illegible], the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

"When Green Leaves Come Again."

When green leaves come again my love
When green leaves come again,
Why put on such a cloudy face,
When green leaves come again?

All this spring will be the last,
Of promise false and vain;
And we must die in winter's snows
Ere green leaves come again.

So in the seasons—and our lives
[illegible]
But still I sigh I scarce know why
When green leaves come again.

Now lift up thankful eyes my sweet!
Count equal loss and gain
Because as long as the world lasts
Green leaves will come again!

For as earth lives under snows,
And love lives under pain
'Tis good to sing with everything—
"When green leaves come again!"

Letter to Mr Beecher from a Texas Ranger

TEXAS, June 1, 1866.

To the Rev Henry Ward Beecher

MY DEAR SIR—I have never known you personally, but for many years have heard of you as a man of principle, and one who had been looked upon by his friends as the conspicuous champion of human rights In the days before the rebellion I did not admire you Though hating the secessionists as the most execrable class the South ever had, I thought many of your efforts ill advised and out of place When, however, the leaders of the rebellion began to disclose their ulterior objects, and it was assumed by them that "democratic government must be superseded in the South in order to perpetuate slavery," the idea of such a change became abhorrent to me When again they declared that "republican government was a failure," and talked about an "hereditary Senate and Executive as a political necessity" and uttered these declarations in connection with desperate efforts to overthrow the jurisdiction of the only free government on earth, you can well imagine what the Union men of the South, who had always loved their country and Government, must have felt. It was under circumstances like these that I learned to love the Northern champions of freedom and free government. During the war your name, even in our remote region, was mentioned with execration by the rebels It was through these execrations and the execrable purposes for which they were uttered, that I learned to admire and love you

"The good that men do often lives after them" It is well, perhaps for your own reputation, as is the case with many others that what you have assisted to accomplish you can not take back. However much you and others may vacillate from the steady onward course necessary to consummate the great work of establishing the common rights of humanity, the work must go on I do not intend to charge you with being derelict in honest principle I only intend to intimate to you what I conceive to be your mistake. Practically, there is but little difference between the mistaken judgment of a man and actual turpitude of intention, so far as mischief to society is concerned Your late course convinces me, and all other bona fide Unionists of the South, that your influence is now as deleterious as your former course was wise and commendable.

I trust you have not become oblivious to the clause of the Declaration of Independence that epitomizes what was subsequently drawn out and embraced in the Constitution, whereby the personal rights of the citizen were established by the fundamental law The great Union party, now represented by the majority in Congress, are endeavoring to force on the rebel contumacy of the South the recognition and acknowledgment of those rights, and that form of State government which shall give protection to these rights, making such protection the definition and test of the kind of Republican Government which the United States is bound to guarantee to every State.

The rebel opposition to the views of the majority in Congress is precisely expressed in the following extract, put forth by two of the leading and most influential journals of Texas

"The general political doctrines for which the South contended must be admitted before the country finds the path of successful development. The present temper of the South is incompatible with any other settlement than an admission of the correctness of the political doctrines for which she contended, and unless these doctrines are admitted, the civil war will have to be fought over again"

The result of the recent election in this State, wherein the Union candidates [illegible] men were elected on the strength of their notoriety as rebels, is a mere corroboration of the fact that Unionism is sought to be made odious and treason popular. This is not the worst. The Convention of Texas pertinaciously insisted that there should be a disparaged class. In the constitutional provisions relating to the enormous school fund of that State, it was provided that all persons of African descent should be forever excluded. Nothing has been left undone by the rebel influence in one State that it was possible for them to do in their efforts to bring disparagement on class, and odium on loyalty

It has become a favorite habit with you to lecture Congress, by implication, as to its duty "Love thy neighbor as thyself," and "do unto others as ye would they should do unto you" This you prescribe as the rule of conduct on the part of Congress, toward the rebels Congress has adopted the golden rule toward them, and put the rule in the form of a mandate Let me repeat it to you "take thy foot off thy neighbor's neck, or the heel of the nation's power shall grind thy neck in twain" When you get to be theologian enough to make the golden rule go backward as well as forward, and mean the same thing, you will begin to understand Scripture as well as Thad. Stevens and the majority in Congress Had the President and his supporters adopted the congressional interpretation of the golden rule, and spoke plainly and firmly, the satisfactory settlement of all our political questions would, by this time have been substantially adjusted

You remind me, reverend sir, of a famous cow on the old homestead where I was brought up She was the best milker that ever wore two horns—would make sixteen pounds of butter per week, [illegible] when the milk could be saved She had a habit that was most perplexing—the habit of kicking over her milk, and many a pail full have I seen run off to waste, like the milk maid's dream of imaginary happiness I fear you will prove unprofitable to keep, and even the Plymouth Church will have trouble come upon it unless you permit it to tie your legs.

In case you continue the work of reconstruction, I would like to have you understand better the conjunctive position of Thad and the rebels You are not aware, perhaps, how much they have been thinking alike, To premise, the rebs, i e, the leaders set themselves up, if, I may so speak, as a coterie of political apes They desired to ape the English aristocracy, declared amongst other things that "the real civilization of a country was in its aristocracy, which should be made permanent, by laws of entail and primogeniture," and many other things which sounded strangely to republican ears After the States seceded and the Confederate government was est[illegible] they said "we are an independent [illegible]." "Looks very much like it," said Thad. "We have the national right," said the rebs, "to declare war, make treaties, and conclude peace." "Well, go on," said Thad.

"We have raised an army and navy, have established prize courts, made blockades, have obtained the recognition of foreign powers as belligerents, and have become a separate nationality"

"I see it," says Thad

"We have done more than that," said the rebs "We have abjured the United States Government and taken the oath of allegiance to the Confederate government We are not of the United States We belong to a government and nation foreign to the United States We have maintained that government for four years. We are the enemies of the United States, and alien to its government"

"That is true," said Thad., "by all the rules of international law"

"We spurn the idea of ever being citizens of the United States, perhaps we may treat with its government in establishing commercial relations when the war is over—holding our noses meanwhile"

"Those political apes have denizenized themselves," said Thad, "no doubt of it"

And right here the apes sat down, in rebel uniform, epauletted, "booted and spurred," to take an out-of door and out-of-the-way collation, and drink to the success of the Confederacy and the downfall of the Union Government It so happened that their tails rested on an enormous Confederate steel trap that had been set to catch Abolitionists, whenever a little amusement was required for the benefit of some brutalized mob Just at this time Thad who had been on their trail stood in a sly place and listened to their hilarious overflow of sentiment After a little, Thad seeing their condition, crept up, saying, to himself I may as well spring that trap," and fixing the action to the word, touched the pan, and caught the apes by the roots of the tail

"Good God! what is this?" cried the rebs "Murder! murder!!"

"Nothing but a 'national Confederate trap,'" said Thad

"Who the d--l are you?" said the rebs, squirming in agony

"An old hunter trapping alien enemies," said Thad

"Oh, my tail my tail!" and such a piteous howl went round and round the circle as would have put any of the true breed, had any been present out of all conceit of continuing to be a monkey

And here Andy hove in sight Coming at a "two forty" speed, and backed by a large force that afterward composed the 22d of February meeting, he exclaimed, "Stevens how is this"

"Caught 'em in their own trap" said Thad

"Malicious wretch," said Andy how could you do this?"

"Trapping alien enemies" said Thad "Been on their trail a long time

"They are not alien enemies" said Andy They cannot be placed in that category"

"Umph said Thad you'd better turn lawyer and teach an old septuagenarian like myself I know the law and have taken judgment by ex parte"

"You d——d old brute, open that trap" said one of the B family

"Open the trap!" exclaimed Andy and his succoring force, all exclaiming at once

"Can't do it," said Thad "Curious trap Whenever it springs it locks itself"

"Give us the key then, you old brute," said a succoring Copperhead

"Haven't got it" said Thad, "and if I had you wouldn't get it just now"

"Where is the key?" exclaimed the anxious crowd that now seemed to congregate all the rebels on the President's muster roll of infamy

"It is in the keeping of Congress," said Thad "and it will stay there 'till we know a little better how matters are to stand"

"Oh, these cursed radicals that are destroying the Union!" said Andy "They've swung round and become the disunion party while these distressed friends are become the Unionists"

"I've got 'em united, as you see them" said Thad "They are in a hopeful state of conversion Let 'em alone 'till we get matters fixed, then, Mr President, we will adopt your rule of naturalization for them—the same probation as that for other foreigners"

"Impudent scoundrels," said Andy "who authorized you to repeat my language?"

"Thank, thee, Jew, for teaching me the word" said Thad

"Oh, my tail! my tail!" groaned the Union Circle

"May as well keep quiet" said Thad "Revolutions don't go backwards" "Pull 'em out" said B—r! Yes, pull 'em out" said S—d And Andy and B—r, and S—d and other helpers seized them by the hair, exclaiming, They are not aliens"—"they are not foreigners"—"they are only rebels, traitors, they had no government"—"they are only a great mob" murdering, pillaging, robbing and killing without law or governmental authority" "Yes they are our Union friends," said D o, and a big pull the helpers made of it But such a cry of "Oh, my tail! my tail!!" and the woods rung with agony as the shrieks of the expiring aristocracy echoed throughout the forest. "Heads I win tails you lose," said Andy, as he tugged in vain to extricate his Union loving friends

"Bah!" said Thad, "you might as well draw close communion from the B—t church Good day," said Thad, "I'll send a resolution to have you report progress"

Now, reverend sir, I have this only further to say Should you ever assume to write a history of the rebellion, I request that you will devote one fair and impartial chapter to THAD. AND THE REBELS

With assurance of high regard, I am cordially and truly yours, TEXAS

Modification of Neutrality Laws

The following is from the Bulletin's Washington letter of July 27th

The House yesterday proceeded to the consideration of the bill in favor of a modification of the United States neutrality law, when Mr Banks proceeded to explain the changes which it proposed. The object of the Committee had been to scale the Neutrality Act of 1818 to the standard of the Foreign Enlistment Act of Great Britain of 1819. There was nothing in this bill that was not contained in the English Foreign Enlistment Act, except the provision authorizing citizens of the United States to sell vessels and munitions of war to Governments or the citizens of Governments with which the United States is not at war It proposed to repeal the offensive and oppressive provisions of the Neutrality Act of 1818. Section four of the Act of 1818 made the Government responsible for the acts of its citizens outside of its jurisdiction. This repealed that, but provided that citizens who had committed crimes against other Governments beyond the jurisdiction of the United States should be on their return prosecuted That was the same provision as was contained in the Foreign Enlistment Act It also repealed section nine of the Act of 1818, requiring owners and consignees of armed vessels departing from this country to give bonds for their good conduct It also repealed the very oppressive and onerous provisions of section eleven, which commanded collectors of customs to seize and detain vessels whenever there shall be cause for suspicion that they are going to commit acts of hostility against other Governments, on the other hand, the bill gave to the Government every requisite power for maintaining neutrality with other nations, the power to prevent the fitting out of armed vessels within the United States, and the power to prohibit the increasing of the force of armed vessels within the United States It withheld no power given to the other Governments to maintain or enforce neutrality laws, and it imposed upon the people no prohibition or restriction inconsistent with the prosperity of the country or the good order of society Its policy and purpose was to bring the neutrality laws of this country to the same level as those of Great Britain.

The discussion which ensued showed quite clearly that the House was largely influenced by remembrance of the bad faith of England towards us during the war. Gentlemen were evidently disposed to turn the tables upon John Bull, and to "assist" him in the event of future Fenian expeditions with a neutrality precisely patterned after his own In closing the debate, Mr. Banks claimed that the object of the bill was to return to the early policy of the Government. Its provisions were substantially those of the Act of 1794, enacted under the administration of Washington The acts of 1797, 1817 and 1818 had been departures from the policy pursued by the government of Washington, and also from the legislation of every other country. It was to strike from the statute those onerous restrictions and prohibitions on the commerce of the people and the power of the country that this bill was in [illegible]. Our present neutrality laws were enacted at the solicitation almost at the demand of foreign governments, especially Portugal, Spain and Great Britain They had been made to correspond to their interests and their wishes, because this country was not then in a position to resist that which was required of her; but it had been distinctly stated by John Adams, John Quincy Adams, and also by the Adams representing our Government at the Court of St James recently, that these laws were made with the distinct comprehension that the time would come when the people of this country would be able to assert their own rights or their own judgment alone, and not at the dictation of the representatives of foreign governments. The question for the House to determine now was whether that time had come Said he, it has come. If anything is required to prove our sense of justice let us look at the rigor with which we enforced our own laws against our own citizens suffering ineffable wrongs at the demand of a government which has been most unjust and most oppressive to us If anything is required to satisfy the world of our sense of justice we offer the assurance of the glorious history of the country for the last four years

The bill was passed by a numerous vote A minority of the Committee on Foreign Relations were opposed to its passage at this time as inopportune, but the whole House concurred in its general purpose Incidentally the passage of the bill is a great triumph for the Fenians who, if it should become a law will find little difficulty in using American soil as an effective base of operations against England British curses are evidently coming home to roost We need hardly suggest that these modifications will also facilitate American assistance to the Liberals in Mexico in enabling them to obtain vessels of war, arms and ammunition

THE UNION SPIRIT IN MISSOURI—A correspondent to the St Louis Democrat writes as follows from Linn county, Missouri

The radicals in that region are wide awake, and not at all alarmed at the terrible struggles of the rebels to regain political ascendency in this state Every one is determined, and all the speeches of all the demagogues in the state will not change a vote from the ticket In fact it seems that the Copperhead leaders are more solicitous to have the rebels vote, in spite of the Constitution and Registry Law than they are to change radicals from their firm position, and their speeches are mainly made up of exhortations to rebels to disregard the test oath, and to have them take it and vote

The radicals of the country have not yet forgotten the trials and terrible scenes of the war brought about by Democratic agency, and it will be long before they will acquiesce in the return of our beloved state to Democratic misrule

Professor Agassiz says that the strip of highlands which divides the waters flowing into the St Lawrence from those flowing into the Atlantic is the oldest land in the world It was once a lonely sea beach, washed by a universal ocean

A HORRIBLE SCENE—William H Russell in his account of the battle of Sadowa details the following horrible scene

While the centre advanced slowly, but surely a space seemed to be left between the ground they had occupied and the left of the Austrians who were continually retiring t [illegible] The houses burning fiercely in Klum, emitted volumes of smoke which were swept away toward the right Another village lying a[illegible] to the left of Prague road, named Gross Burits, or Burits as well as I could catch the name, was now in flames More than once blew up in that direction so that there were now six or seven villages and hamlets on fire from left to right The battle was assuming a more awful and tremendous aspect and the faint rays of sunshine which shot at intervals through the lifting clouds only gave the scene great terror Horses without riders careered among the wounded who were crawling all over the plain Dismounted dragoons dragged themselves to the rear and men came crawling along in such numbers that they appeared like a broad fringe to the edges of the battle. But where they most swarmed was over the plain near the big tree The rolling of musketry in the hollows beyond smothered the voice of the cannon At last the reserves behind were pressed forward with energy. Their artillery unlimbering opened from 10 guns into the dense blue columns which were driving the Austrians before them and checked their advance till the Prussian artillery, getting upon the small ridge and firing down so as to get a slight enfilade, began to knock over horses and men The Austrians, however here as elsewhere, stuck to their pieces admirably; and it was not till the Prussian infantry getting into a clump of timber, opened a sharp fire on their flank that they limbered up leaving more than one black heap to mark the position they had occupied Meanwhile the Austrians on the left pursued their onward career The Saxon reserves pushed up the hill in the direction of Nechanitz and a great body of cavalry sweeping around between the left and centre dashed in wave like columns through the smoke toward the Prussians and menaced their artillery, against which some 30 or 40 Austrian pieces in line were directing a steady and rapid fire Prussian prisoners began to arrive at intervals between the convoys of wounded winding their way along the Prague road Most of these belonged to the 6th and 21st Regiments to judge from the number of their shoulder straps and among them was an officer of great stature, with red moustaches and whiskers who bore his captivity with great sang froid, and walked along like a conqueror

A DESERTED CITY—A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, writing from Germany, thus speaks of Antwerp,

It is melancholy to see a city once so wealthy and powerful as Antwerp now so decayed and deserted Miles of streets are empty and silent as the Campagna the churches have half a dozen worshippers shopkeepers all wear a depressed and hungry look as if customers were rare articles, and I certainly believe there were more streets than horses I dressed myself for the table d hote dinner at the hotel, expecting to meet a large company, but to my astonishment I saw only a forlorn and solitary Englishman eating his soup He told me that for two days he had the table d hote all to himself, and was rejoiced to have some one to talk to besides the waiter
